SUBIECTUL B- INTEGRATED SKILLS (60 points)

Read the text below and do the tasks that follow.

Miss Johnson sat in the dining room having tea and looked out at all the people on the beach. Maybe she should go for a walk before dinner. She was just deciding in which direction she should walk when Mr Rodgers came into the room and walked straight towards her. There was no way she could avoid him; he had clearly seen her and she still had a cup of tea in front of her ready to drink.

'Do you mind if I sit down?' he asked politely. Of course she couldn't refuse; it wasn't in her nature to be rude.

'Yes, please do,' she said and offered him some tea. He accepted but then didn't seem to be paying attention. Suddenly he got up and started pacing up and down in front of the table. This was really quite annoying as he was walking right in front of the window and getting in the way of the nice view.

'I've got a problem,' he said. She hadn't expected him to be so familiar; they had only known each other a few weeks and they were not really friends. 'I'd be happy to help in any way I can,' she said 'It all started last week,' he began. 'I was on my way to the shops when I bumped into Veronica Gray. We had a chat for a couple of minutes, and then just as I was making my excuses and saying goodbye her husband came round the corner. He looked not at all happy to find us chatting together. Veronica suddenly went very quiet and almost ran away in the opposite direction. Her husband walked past me, barely said hello, and followed his wife round the corner. I was very confused. One minute she'd been happily gossiping and then as soon as Gregory appeared she became a different person. And he, well, for a second I thought he might hit me.' I didn't see either of them again until last night.

I was coming down to dinner when I heard voices on the stairs below me. As I walked round the corner I saw it was Veronica and Gregory arguing. It was too late for me to turn back, so I said good evening and carried on downstairs as quickly as I could. But Gregory called me back. He was quite angry and started shouting at me; he said I should mind my own business and leave his wife alone. Veronica was crying and tried to tell her husband to leave me alone, that it wasn't my fault. It was very unpleasant and I really had no idea what was going on. I said I had no idea what he was talking about and to be honest I might have just put it down to him being a bit jealous and left it at that except that at that moment Annabel came down the stairs and saw us. I don't know if you know but she and I are engaged.'

'Yes, I did know; congratulations.'

'And of course it didn't look good, having Gregory more or less accuse me of having some sort of affair with his wife. Annabel just looked at me and walked off. Now she won't speak to me. What do you think I should do? Should I confront Gregory and make him see sense? Or should I try and find out from Veronica what is going on? There's obviously something not right between them; I just don't understand how I got involved. I'd really appreciate any help you can give me.'
